

NOTICE

I have great pleasure in announcing that one week Student Development Program (SDP) on "Research Methodology" will be conducted from 10th August, 2020. The significance of Research Methodology lies in the fact that it imparts requisite training for systematic enquiry into a problem. The essential components of this training among other aspects are collection of data, classification of data, presentations and analysis by choosing proper scientific / statistical tools and techniques. This SDP will be beneficial to PG students and researchers of Social Sciences. Therefore, this SDP is open to students and research scholars of all Social Science departments including Geography. At the end of the SDP, examination comprising of objective questions may be conducted and certificate will be provided on successful completion of the SDP. Registration for this SDP may be made on the link given below:
